To CONNECT with God, each other & the world as we experience PURPOSE, BELONGING &
LIFE-CHANGING discipleship.

Educated beyond the level of my obedience?

Pastor and author, Mark Batterson, in his book Whisper, says, “Until we obey the Word, we have simply been educated beyond the level of our obedience.” This is a sobering quote, yet I am inspired to want to not simply be educated in the Word, but to obey what I read therein.

With that in mind, here are a few of my thoughts from a recent time “in the Word.” This past week I’ve been spending my “chair time” with God reading in the book of Ezekiel. What follows are my thoughts after reading Ezekiel chapter 7.

Three observations:

1. the “day of God’s judgment” is upon Israel because their wickedness and pride have fully blossomed (vs. 10).
2. “the trumpet calls Israel, but no one listens” (vs. 14)
3. three times God says, “I will turn my eyes away and show no pity” (vs. 4,9,22)

Three thoughts:

1. It's best not to sin. If-and-when I sin, it's best to confess and repent early. If I delay, my wickedness and pride will fully blossom, and there is no scenario where that is a good thing.
2. God's trumpet is calling me to battle, will I listen or be one of the many who disregards?
3. Today, I am thanking God for showing me pity and grace through Jesus Christ. As the song says, "What can wash away my sins, nothing but the blood of Jesus!"

Take some time this coming weekend to get a few minutes of "chair time" with God. His words are life!

Your brother and friend,
shaun

PS- Glenn Kaiser and Darrell Mansfield teamed together in 1990 to produce an album called; Trimmed and Burnin' & Slow Burn. One of my favorite songs on this album is Shaky Ground. It has a motivating impact on me to not "simply let truth fill my head," but rather to live a life of faith-obedience.
